Sale of Properties For Arrears of Taxes Discussed at Town Meeting

Owners Will Be Given Opportunity to Redeem Properties Before Tax Sale, Sept. 30

The town council met on Tuesday, Sept. 13, with the following present: Mayor Pattinson, C. Rushton, J. Jackson, W. Borrow, Fred Antrobus, Lewis Jones and J. Ford, secretary.

A by-law restricting the erection of gasoline pumps to the property of the owner, and not on the edge of the sidewalk, was given three readings.

An application to the provincial government for an old-age pension for an aged lady of the town was referred to the council for their recommendation, which was given.

Frank H. Graham in a letter requested the council to have a handrail erected on the path leading from the Anglican church to the top of the hill. The Works Committee was authorized to act on motion of the council.

For the sale of properties on Sept. 30, under the arrears of taxes act, James Ford was appointed auctioneer. The mayor stated that efforts had been made to arrange with those owners whose properties were to be sold under the act, to pay monthly so they might retain their properties. The town has no option but to comply with the terms of the act.

Cr. Jones stated that the town should exercise more direct supervision on the amusement concessions at Crows Nest Lake. Discussing this, several councillors thought a small rental fee should be charged. The parks committee under Cr. Borrow was authorized to make further investigation into the possibility of leasing lots there, and to report at the next meeting.

Repair to a light standard at Hopkins' corner was authorized. Cr. Jones proposed that a definite plan, covering a number of years, be made for improving street intersections similar to that on Main street. It was left to the Works committee to draw up a plan. In the meantime material will be purchased to repair the intersection on Main street and Central avenue.

The matter of registration of voters was discussed, and it was decided that dates be set and the matter be brought to the attention of the ratepayers by advertising in The Journal. Various accounts were passed, and after informal discussion on various matters of public interest, the council adjourned.

Orders for Gummed Paper for parceling machines may be filled at The Journal office. Plain or printed paper may be supplied, at lowest current prices. Printed gummed paper orders should be given one month ahead of requirement, as it takes that length of time to put the orders through the factory.

GIRL GUIDES RE-ORGANIZED FOR WINTER

Meeting Held on Monday Marked by Enthusiasm and New Members Enrolled

Under the captainship of Mrs. R. P. Borden, with Miss A. Yuill, principal of Cameron school, as lieutenant, the Coleman Girl Guides met at Mrs. Borden's on Monday to plan their activities for the next few months. Patrol leaders are Isobel Atkinson, Wilma Halliwell, Violet Wilson and Nora McLeod.

On Saturday next they plan hiking to the old mining town of Lillo, a round trip of 18 miles. Many other week-end programs are being arranged.

The troop is open to all girls between the ages of 11 and 16 years, and is un-denominational. New members will be welcomed, and may obtain particulars from the officers or patrol leaders.

SHOWERS FOR COLEMAN SCHOOL TEACHER

Miss Hilda Clifford, a popular member for the past six years of Coleman public schools staff, was the guest of honor at a pre-nuptial shower held on Monday evening, Sept. 12, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hayson. Miss Edith Hayson and Mrs. W. L. Rippon received the guests and had arranged a very interesting program for the evening's entertainment.

The presents were artistically concealed and the bride-to-be underwent the ordeal of fishing for them with a rod and line, the fishpond being arranged in an alcove behind the piano. The hooking of the prizes caused much mirth and laughter, and Miss Clifford expressed her appreciation of the many beautiful gifts.

The ladies present were Mrs. William Hayson, Mrs. G. Pattinson, Mrs. Lewis Jones, Mrs. Clifford, Mrs. F. H. Graham, Mrs. J. Naylor, Mrs. H. C. McBurney, Mrs. Sidney C. Short, Mrs. Albert F. Short, Mrs. A. S. McClinton, Mrs. A. Dewar, Mrs. Florence Smith, Mrs. J. Q. C. McDonald, Mrs. Robert Carson, Mrs. Arthur E. Graham, Mrs. W. L. Rippon, Mrs. David Hoyle, Mrs. Sidney White, Miss Edith Hayson, Mrs. H. T. Halliwell.

On Saturday evening a jolly party was held in honor of the bride-to-be at Principal and Mrs. Hoyle's home, and a presentation made on behalf of the schools staff.

Flowers for any occasion may be ordered through Frank H. Graham, at the post office. Prompt service assured at all times, by telephoning 81W.

PERSONAL STATIONERY

The Journal office will print 100 good quality envelopes for $1.00, or 100 letter size paper for $1.00, printing limited to three lines consisting of name and address. Cash at the time of ordering. Leave an order for your personal correspondence.

Rev. Father Lehman Is Moved to Bow Island—Here for Four Years

Coleman Priest Had Distinguished Scholastic Record—Ordained in Rome in 1927.

Rev. Edmund F. Lehman, for four years parish priest of Holy Ghost Church, will leave here on Saturday to take over the parish at Bow Island, and will be succeeded by Rev. Father Speckmaier, of Warner.

His four years have been marked with activity on behalf of his church. Ministering to peoples of various European nationalities engaged in the coal mining industry, besides the English speaking people, he has carried on his difficult task with devotion and has earned the love and respect of a large number not only in his own church, but among those of other denominations.

His theological training commenced in the University of St. Louis, Missouri, spending four years there, following which he spent three years in Rome, where he was ordained on Dec. 17, 1927, at the Basilica of St. Peter Lateran by Cardinal Poppo. During his studies there he visited most of the European countries and spent some time in Great Britain.

Coleman was his first parish, and his energy has been demonstrated in various useful ways through the church organizations. Under his direction the R. C. cemetery was improved to a marked degree.

As an evidence of his congregation's regard, a delegation journeyed to Calgary requesting Bishop Monahan to permit him to remain in Coleman, but changes in the Diocese having already been decided on, they were regretfully advised that the arrangements would be carried through.

DISTRICT SPORTS ASSOCIATION

Yore Daniels, district secretary of the Workers Sports Association, states that hockey clubs are to be formed in all local of the Crows Nest Pass, and that some clubs have already affiliated in the W.S.A. A league will be formed and a trophy presented by the district executive.

As a termination to winter activities of the affiliated teams, a winter carnival will be organized, in which fancy skating, racing, broom ball and other ice sports will be featured. Carnivals will be organized at Sylvan Lake, Lethbridge, Calgary, Edmonton, Drumheller and Crows Nest Pass. Funds derived will be used for the building up of a Workers Sports Association.

For indoor sports, boxing, wrestling, basketball, will be organized for those who do not participate in outdoor sports, and efforts will be made to secure a building for this purpose.

RAMBLERS VS. BASEBALL TEAM IN SOFTBALL GAME

These teams met recently in a spirited game, which resulted in a victory for the baseball team by a score of 17-12. The Ramblers had the lead until halfway through the game, when the baseballers piled up a substantial lead. One batter made a home-run by batting the ball into a gopher hole, and also scored a home run while the fielder was digging for the ball.

The line-up of the Ramblers: Wally Yarak, Philip Melanichuk, Yore Daniels, John Danyluk, Joe Melanichuk, Bill Ukrainitz, Bill Ferby, Joe Picuk, Jules Ancelot, John Ukrainitz, Emil Ukrainitz.

Baseball Team: Idris Hayson, Sonny Richards, Jimmy Joyce, Atkinson, Sagon, Clark, Wood, Evans, Balloch, Emrie, W. Balloch.

COLEMAN'S BASEBALL KING

Angelo Gentile is the baseball king of Coleman. The town has a junior team, but Angelo is always ambitious to promote a senior team. Accordingly, when a tournament is to be held anywhere within a couple of hundred miles, he assembles a number of star players and emulates McGraw or some other baseball magnate. At the Labor Day he came very near nabbing the first prize. His team defeated Fernie and Kimberley by close scores, and lost out in the final against Creston by a score of 1-0. His team was recruited from Lethbridge, Blairmore and Coleman.

HOLMES AND WATSON

Two men in hunting outfits caught the eye as they walked down the street. One looked like Sherlock Holmes, with the two-peaked cap and a curved stem pipe. A close-up revealed it was Charlie Robinson, dactylo type expert, or in more familiar words a finger print expert. He was out after fingerprints that day.

PRINTED PAGE VS. RADIO

Black Barton, writer and advertising executive, states: "People are four-fifths eye-minded and only one-fifth ear-minded. Radio, even television, can never achieve the permanence of the printed page. It comes and goes with the speed of light. Hence its impression must be some degrees transitory and ephemeral, while the printed page may be read and re-read times without number. If one misses a word on the radio—it's gone; if one skips a word in the paper one may turn back and read what one missed at first."

Harvest Festival services were held at St. Alban's on Sunday, the church being prettily decorated with flowers, fruit and foliage by the ladies. An appeal for support was made by Rev. A. S. Pattinson. The offertory this year was very much below that of last year, and a special canvass will be made by the vestry among church members to donate to the annual harvest appeal.

The Journal office can fill your orders for commercial stationery.

CONFLICTING EVIDENCE IN AUTO COLLISION

On returning from the sports at Fernie on Sept. 5, Mr. and Mrs. Dante Filafilo, riding in their car, were in a collision with a taxi-driver from Blairmore, which hit them with sufficient force to throw their car into the ditch, the taxi-car, with its driver and passenger, crashing into the C. P. fence near "Bushtown" crossing. Mrs. Filafilo escaped injuries except for a shaking up and a slight bruise on the nose. Mr. Filafilo was not injured.

A police investigation into the accident resulted in a hearing before Magistrate Gresham, on Sept. 7, who reserved his decision till Sept. 13. Owing to conflicting evidence on the collision, he dismissed the case. The taxi-driver was J. Wostenholme, of Blairmore. It is reported that Filafilo will institute civil action to recover damages.

DEATH OF VIRIA ASH

Viria Rachel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ash, passed away at 2 a.m. Monday in Coleman hospital aged 20 years and four months. On August 31 she was operated on for trouble which developed from an operation for appendicitis performed in Nelson about a year ago, and appeared to be progressing. Early on Monday she took a sudden turn and collapsed, her death coming very quickly. She was born in Coleman, and attended public and high schools. Besides her parents, she is survived by her brothers Norman, Roy, Howard and Eldred, and sisters Audrey (Mrs. Smith of Winnipeg), Rita and Edith.

The funeral was held on Wednesday, Sept. 14, service at the home being conducted by Rev. A. E. Larke, minister of St. Paul's United church. Many floral tributes were sent by relatives and friends. The pall bearers were Idris Hayson, Fraser McLeod, Adam Wilson, W. Lonsbury, Hugh Dunlop, James Killgannon.

Heartfelt sympathy of many friends and acquaintances was expressed for the bereaved family.

ST. PAUL'S LADIES' AID

The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Paul's United Church will hold a tea, pantry and parcel sale, in the club room, on Saturday, Sept. 24, from 3 to 6 p.m. Everybody welcome.

FLYING HIGH

An airplane flying at an altitude of about 7000 feet was observed traveling westward on Saturday afternoon against a terrific head wind which was roaring through the Crows Nest Pass. It appeared at times to be almost stationary as it battled the wind but as it passed over the emergency landing field here the pilot must have had complete confidence in being able to make the next airport at Fernie.

Mr. and Mrs. James Park arrived from Scotland on Wednesday of last week, bringing to a conclusion their honeymoon trip, having been married on August 17. They have taken up residence on Sixth street, and hearty welcomes have been extended to the newly-weds.

Mountain Valleys of District Summer Home Large Flocks of Sheep

Many Sheep Pastured During Summer on Crows Nest Forest Reserve.

The mountain valleys of Crows Nest forest reserve furnished pasturage for a large number of sheep from the prairies during the summer, including over 2000 head from Lethbridge Experimental Farms, over 500 owned by Chas. Sartoris of Blairmore, about 800 owned by F. Cooper of Pincher Station and over 3000 head owned by Davidson of Coaldale and Mackled of Pincher.

The Lethbridge sheep were brought up in cattle cars in June and unloaded at Sentinel, to pasture in the vicinity of Crows Nest mountain; Sartoris' flocks were pastured along Pelletier Creek; Cooper's were on Byron Creek and Davidson and Mackled's on Daisy Creek. They will remain till early in October, when they will be returned to the prairies.

For many years pastures in the forest reserve have been used for grazing sheep, where there is a luxuriant growth throughout the season, as vegetation is not affected by long periods of drought as on the prairies, and there is always an abundant water supply in the mountain creeks. The sheep always come off summer pasturage in splendid condition.

HOME LOCAL AT BELLEVUE

Bellevue Miners Association officers are P. McLaughlin, president; Albert Rhodes, secretary; H. Jepson, N. Spooner and W. Brown, pit committee. Their first meeting was held on Sept. 11, and the secretary states "everything went off fine, and they will be glad to co-operate at all times with Coleman local."

LOCAL CONTRACTOR TO BUILD BANK AT BERWYN

Contractor J. S. D'Appollonia does not allow grass to grow under his feet. Building contracts and construction work may be quiet in his home town, but he looks around and seizes opportunities elsewhere.

During the past four years he has constructed buildings for the Canadian Bank of Commerce in various parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan, including Coleman, Willow Bunch, Sask., Lloydminster and others. His latest contract is to erect a building at Berwyn, in Peace River district. These contracts were awarded him as a result of the satisfactory way in which he put through a building contract for the local bank.

He has been entrusted with all public works of importance in this district, including waterworks construction at Coleman and Natal. He would like to see if you cannot find work near to home, just look around.

THE COMMERCIAL LIFE ASSURANCE CO.

Dear Sirs:—I appreciate the kind consideration and the promptness in which your company paid the claim of fifteen hundred dollars in connection with the death of my husband. It was a great help to me to receive the money so quickly as so many extra expenses accumulated during my husband's illness and I will now be able to pay these off at once. My husband had several insurance policies but the one with your company was the first to be paid.

My husband was a staunch believer in insurance and he was quick to join when the City of Edmonton offered its employees the opportunity of obtaining Group Insurance.

Yours sincerely,

Coalition Governments.

The question of coalition, or union, governments has been brought very forcibly to the attention of the people throughout the Western provinces of Canada within recent months. There is undoubtedly a very considerable body of public opinion which favors the reorganization of governments at the present time upon a non-partisan basis—that is, the formation of cabinets of ministers inclusive of representatives of all existing political parties, with the strongest men chosen from each to constitute the Government.

But the average elector has but a hazy idea as to how this can be brought about. Many people entertain the view that all present parties are equally responsible if such coalitions are not effected. If an official offer of coalition is made by the head of the Government in office, and it is rejected by the other party, or parties, then, of course, the latter must accept full responsibility for their decision. There is, however, only one person in each Province who can take the initial step leading to coalition. That is the Prime Minister.

Under the British system of parliamentary government the King, or his representative, invites the leader of the party having a majority in the House of Commons, or Legislature, as the case may be, to form a Government. He becomes Prime Minister. It is then his sole prerogative to select his own ministers. He may consult as many people as he chooses, but he, and he alone, names his ministers. Nobody else has any rights in the matter, except, of course, that such ministers must be approved by the people themselves by election to the Legislature. Having chosen his ministers, the Prime Minister alone can demand their resignation from the Government.

It was Premier Ramsey MacDonald who proposed the formation of a National Government in Great Britain; it was Premier Sir Robert Borden who proposed Union Government in Canada during the war in 1917; it was Premier Bracken who proposed coalition in Manitoba this year; it is Premier Mealy who recently proposed coalition in British Columbia. Nobody but the Prime Minister has any right to do so. For a leader of an opposition party to propose coalition would be to infringe on the prerogatives of the Prime Minister.

Once a Prime Minister does propose coalition to the leaders of other parties then a large measure of the responsibility for the realization of such a form of administration is shifted on to their shoulders, and it becomes a joint responsibility of all to so compromise their differences as to make a union of their forces effective.

Coalitions in the past, both in Canada and elsewhere throughout the Empire, have been brought about in times of emergency in order to carry through certain policies deemed by all in the interests of the country but which it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, for a government representative of only a section of the people—even of a majority of them,—to do by itself. Therefore, when coalitions are formed the exact nature of the emergency to be met, and the policies by which it is to be met, must of necessity be clearly stated, and it is on the basis thus set out that coalition takes place. This was true in the case of the present National Government in Great Britain, and also when Union Government was formed in Canada to win the war and enforce conscription.

Much of the opinion in favor of coalitions today is founded in the idea that party politics and party Governments are a mistake; that the whole citizenship should be united in one party and one Government; in a word, that Provincial Governments at least should be in the nature of a municipal council, or board of directors, in a company. Whether such an ideal is practical is another question. There are divergent groups in many company directorates, controlling majority and a dissenting minority. The same is true in municipal councils, although the members may not be definitely classified under any group name or as Government and Opposition. But the parties or groups exist just the same.

In fact when any two persons join forces to bring about any given result a party is formed, and the same is true when two persons unite to oppose any given policy or line of action. In fact, coalitions become necessary when because of a multiplicity of parties, no one party can command a majority and thus form a Government. Coalitions, therefore, are not the solution of the party system, and it would appear that there will continue to be parties just so long as everybody does not think, see and act alike on public questions.

Finally, a coalition government is not created through a joining of forces by a few individuals, but a union of parties. Only by a merger of parties for a given purpose can the required strength be given to a coalition. One or two individuals might enter a Government to add strength to that Government, but it would not be a coalition. Parties must unite to bring about a coalition.

A Long Imprisonment

Toad Released From Concrete Block After 22 Years

Cracking a large concrete block removed by blasting from the Welland south dock of the Welland Ship Canal, workmen were astonished to see a toad pop out from the centre of the block after it had been split. The dock was built in 1910, therefore the toad had been imprisoned for 22 years. It appeared slightly dazed for a few minutes after gaining its freedom, but was soon hopping about like any other toad. It seemed quite normal with the exception of its feet, which appeared to be under-developed.

Suffered A Severe Attack Of Dysentery

Mr. F. L. D. Moulard, Vernon, B.C., writes:—"Last Summer I suffered from a severe attack of dysentery. I tried nearly everything on the market, without getting any relief, until a friend told me to use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which I did, and I got immediate relief. Now I am making it a rule to always keep a bottle of it in my medicine chest. Wild Strawberry is sure relief for dysentery, colic, and diarrhoea, but I always see I get the genuine 'Dr. Fowler's'."

One Well-Managed City

Louisville, Kentucky, Took Simple Way of Effecting Economies

Louisville, Kentucky, will face its new fiscal year, September 1, with a cash surplus of more than $400,000, the majority of its employees will be on a full salary basis and another reduction in taxes is promised.

Cheques are being written for $140,000 to pay back a 10 per cent. salary cut which went into effect on January 1. At the same time the tax rate has dropped from 23.4 mills to 22.3 and assessment values have been cut 7 per cent.

The explanation is simple. In the closing days of 1931 Mayor Harrison, of Louisville, announced a 10 per cent. salary cut for civic employees, and at the same time promised them that should they effect sufficient economies despite the reduction in the tax rate and assessment, they would be given the back pay.

The effect was instantaneous. Economies were effected in every department. The savings came from positive acts of the employees, such as curtailing gasoline supply, care in driving trucks and other vehicles, substituting of materials—in short, from thrifty vigilance.

Even the taxpayers showed an improved tone. On July 28, 89 per cent of the taxes had been paid, leaving only $387,046 unpaid of the total $5,055,845 receivable as of January 1, 1932.—Winnipeg Tribune.

HAS LOST FAT FOR THREE YEARS

68 lbs. Gone Altogether

A woman writes:—"For nearly three years I have been taking Kruschen Salts. Every morning I drink water, and have lost 68 lbs. of fat. My weight before taking them was 196 lbs. and it is now 128 lbs. Compare the difference—it is marvelous. My mother and sister are also taking Kruschen and lots of our friends, and think they are wonderful. As regards diet, it is not necessary to do one little bit of dieting; in my case I have never denied myself anything since I started taking Kruschen Salts. I walk every day, and do not eat many potatoes or much sugar. I don't think I shall ever be grateful enough to Kruschen Salts for the great help they have been to me, and shall never stop taking them, or recommending them to people I think need them."—(Miss) K. T.

Taken every morning, Kruschen effects a perfectly natural cleansing of undigested food substances and all excessive waste matter. It leaves the digestive system regular and healthy. Nature will eventually store it up out of the way in the form of ugly fat.

Quick RELIEF from pain

A lot of things can cause a headache or other pain, but there is one thing which will always give you relief! Just take a tablet or two of Aspirin. Your suffering ceases. Relief comes instantly, regardless of what may have been making your head throb with pain.

Aspirin is harmless—cannot depress the heart. So there's no use waiting for a headache to "wear off." It is useless to endure pain of any kind when you can get Aspirin. It is a blessing to women who suffer regular systemic pain; to men who must work on, in spite of eye-strain, fatigue or neuritis.

Learn its quick relief for colds; for neuritis, rheumatism, lumbago. Be sure to get Aspirin and not a substitute. All druggists sell Aspirin tablets. "Aspirin" is a trade-mark registered in Canada.

Rise In Copper Prices

Trend Of Prices Will Give Encouragement To Mining Industry

Mining interests in Canada are watching closely the upward of world prices in copper, and the view was expressed at Ottawa that a continuation of this upward trend would have a corresponding reaction in the industry which has been languishing in Canada for the past two years. Copper prices have risen to 6.35 cents a pound, while a few weeks ago they were as low as five cents.

"There is a big difference between that figure and the peak price of 18 cents," declared a prominent government official associated with the mines department, "but undoubtedly this increase, if it is maintained, will encourage the copper industry." In eastern and central Canada the three large producers, Noranda, International Nickel and Plin Flon, were continuing operations; but Sheritt-Gordon had not been working for some time. With higher prices, however, prospects were that all the producers would come into play. In British Columbia, the Britannia and Granby mines were still in production.

Wonders Have Vanished

Loch Lomond, Scotland, where Kaye Don made his world speed-record, has lost wonders which attracted tourists. Its floating island has disappeared, and scientists have explained that its "waves without wind" are merely the result of natural swell, and that the "fish without fins" are really vipers which travel from one island to another by swimming.

Lost In Storm

Harrowing Experience Of Missionary In The Far North

Without food or shelter, lost in an Arctic blizzard for five days, was the harrowing experience of Rev. J. H. Webster, Anglican missionary at Coppermine, on the Arctic Ocean, as related by him in Winnipeg recently.

An inexperienced and bad-tempered lead dog was the cause of his trouble. Last January the missionary was travelling east of Coppermine, visiting Eskimo villages, in 30-below-zero weather, a blizzard blew up, and the lead dog tore his harness and disappeared into the storm.

"Before I realized it," Rev. Mr. Webster said, "I had incautiously left the six remaining trustworthy dogs and ran along the tundra's trail, giving no thought to the danger to which I was exposing myself in leaving food, stove, fuel and dogs behind."

The tracks of the runaway dog were soon obliterated, and the missionary turned to retrace his steps only to discover that he was lost. He wandered until nightfall, and then lay down in his parka to sleep. The storm continued unabated the following day, and he moved on. The second and third nights he slept in the snow, and he realized he was growing weaker. On the fourth morning he dug himself out of the snow to find the storm was over and the skies clear. He did not feel hungry, but his legs would scarcely bear his weight, and he finally dropped on the ice. He was awakened by a native who had been sent out to search for him, and taken back to the mission.

The Oil For The Farmer.—A bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the farm house would save many a journey to the doctor. It is not only good for the children when taken with colds and croup, and for the nature who suffer from pains and aches, but there are directions for its use on sick cattle. There should always be a bottle of it in the house.

High Protein Content

Wheat Harvested This Year In Western Canada Of Good Quality

Preliminary test made on the protein content of the new wheat crop of western Canada show very satisfactory results. A maximum of 18.1 per cent. was found in No. 1 Northern from Manitoba in 376 samples tested, and the minimum 10 per cent., although below the average for last year, was better than the five-year average, which included last year. The tests on 308 samples of No. 1 Northern from Saskatchewan points showed a maximum of 18 per cent. and a minimum of 10.8 per cent. with the average working out at 14.8 per cent., compared with an average of 14.6 for all No. 1 Northern from that province tested last year. The number of samples received from Alberta was too small to make comparative tests.

Secrets Of The Skies

Monster Astronomical Observatory To Be Built In States

Pooling resources, the University of Toronto and the University of Texas plan a co-operative new astronomical observatory—surpassed only in size by the Mount Wilson Observatory—to search out the secrets of the skies.

Announcement of the project was made by Vice-President Frederic Woodworth, of the University of Chicago. The observatory, he said, would house an 80-inch reflecting telescope. It is expected the observatory will be completed by July 1, 1938, at a cost of about $375,000.

A City Of Churches

The City of London, England, has more churches in proportion to the number of residents than any other part of the world. There are forty-seven churches to 10,000 people.

Chemists Make Discovery

Find Nitrogen Fertilizers Are Good For Grazing Lands

London chemists make a startling discovery. It is now possible to grass seven cows where four grazed before. Thus England, with land control, might almost double its beef herds, increase home-grown foods from 38 to 55 per cent., add 10,000,000 sheep. In 10 years Britain might even become self-supporting in meat, butter, cheese and eggs. The open sesame to this agricultural wonder world is—nitrogen fertilizers. As Dean Swift might have said: "Whoever makes two blades of grass to grow where but one grew before deserves well of mankind—through his fairy dust be fertilizer—Christian Science Monitor.

Painless and perfect in their action, Miller's Worm Powders are always a safe and reliable remedy for children who show symptoms of worms. These symptoms are easily recognizable in a feverish restlessness, frequently ending in convulsions. A point of notable importance is that after Miller's Worm Powders have expelled the worms, the stomach and bowels are toned up into a very healthy condition.

Red snow is found in many places, among them the Forbidden Plateau, on Vancouver Island, British Columbia. It is due to the presence of innumerable microscopic plants.

No more dusting for me!

at least not with old-fashioned dust cloths. I've found a better way.

Thousands of Canadian women know that her "better way" is the Applender Wonder Paper. Made from clean rags and sold paper, it is actually treated with high-grade furniture polish, it dusters as it cleans—as it polishes.

Wonder Paper is changing the old-established order of house-cleaning. One neat package of it appeals more to women than yards of old rag that spread dust and constantly need washing to be sanitary.

You get twenty-five sheets of Wonder Paper for a quarter. Simply crumple a sheet into a soft wad, go over the furniture, woodwork, and the floors. The results are a delight. In half the time and with half the effort, you get a necessary task done far more satisfactorily.

Special Offer

WONDER PAPER is made by the makers of the famous PARASANI, the Heavy Waxed Paper in the Green Box. Most grocery, hardware and department stores have Applender Wonder Paper in stock. If yours hasn't, just send this coupon and we'll give you a booklet entitled "Leftovers", containing one hundred recipes, as a bonus.

B. C. Government To Continue Until Next Session Of Legislature

Victoria, B.C.—The present government will continue until a session of the legislature early in January, necessary legislation will be brought down, his cabinet will resign, a new government of union nature will be formed and if the proposed government is successful, the elected members may choose the man who shall be premier.

This was the programme for British Columbia, proposed in a statement issued by the province's premier, Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Saturday night, September 7.

Dr. Tolmie proposes that the cabinet of the proposed government shall be reduced from nine members, with portfolios to seven with portfolios and from two without to one without portfolio, totalling eight instead of 11. The membership of the legislature, at present 48, would be reduced to a point compatible with proper representation for the whole people.

"There will be a thorough reorganization of the cabinet and in that reorganization representatives of other bodies will be afforded an opportunity to participate."

The premier does not forecast the date of the election beyond that "it will follow at the earliest possible date."

A very thorough study of the recent Kidd committee report on governmental matters will be made, and those proposals which are approved will be adopted.

Freight For Bay Route

Will Shortly Discontinue Solicitation Of Freight For 1933 Season

Ottawa, Ont.—While the government takes no part in the operation of the Hudson Bay Railway and the Port of Churchill, the information that the Canadian National Railways will shortly discontinue the freight solicitation service for the new route is unofficially confirmed here.

The railway has been pushing the Hudson Bay route strongly in the past few months, but this effort will be stopped shortly prior to the closing of the Hudson Bay navigation season. The chief motive in discontinuing the service is to economize, but it is pointed out that there is little purpose in soliciting freight for 1933 at this time.

Married School Teachers

Calgary, Alberta.—Women school teachers whose husbands earn good salaries may be dismissed by the Calgary School Board. At a recent meeting the school board decided to investigate and ascertain the number of women teachers on the staff whose husbands received sufficient wages to run the home without their wives working.

Strike Oil In Manitoba

Winnipeg, Man.—Promising oil showings have been encountered at the Pembina Valley Gas and Oil Company's well eight miles south of Manitoba, Man., according to word reaching here from that district. Oil was struck at 2,503 feet, N. A. McMillan, director of the company, has been advised.

The Nanking government plans to erect a radio station capable of communicating with any station in the world.

Move Made To Lengthen The Shipping Season Out Of Churchill Port

Ottawa, Ont.—The Canadian government is moving to lengthen the shipping season out of Churchill, Manitoba's seaport on Hudson Bay which, under existing insurance regulations, will have finished its first season of activity on a commercial basis at the end of this month.

Lowest insurance rates on shipping through Hudson Strait expire September 30. By paying additional insurance it can be extended to October 7.

The government marine department has made representations to the marine insurance underwriters against the insurance expiration date, it was stated here, urging that, instead of a fixed date arbitrarily set, the date

Says Empire Threatened

British Ideals Of International Trade In Danger

Toronto, Ont.—Suggestion that the very civilization Great Britain had created might destroy her in the end was made here by Dr. T. E. Gregory, of London, one of the world's leading economists, in an address. Cabinet ministers, professors, bankers and outstanding business men were in his audience.

Dr. Gregory questioned whether the British ideals of international trade and congresses would win out, or whether the American ideal of less interest in international trade and more mechanization of production would prevail in the next two decades.

"Do we want civilization of the kind my country has created, and which may destroy my country in the end, or the kind America has created and may carry to a very triumphant conclusion?" Dr. Gregory questioned.

There was going on in the world a revolution in raw material that could not be checked, said Dr. Gregory. The raw material producing areas were going to resort to manufacturing in order to keep those busy who were being driven from the land.

Dairy Barn Destroyed

Heavy Loss Sustained By Farmer Near Moose Jaw

Moose Jaw, Sask.—The huge barn of Fred H. Jones, prominent dairy farmer living two miles north of the city, was completely demolished by fire, incurring a loss estimated at $23,000. Starting either from spontaneous combustion or from a short circuit in the electric wiring of the barn, the fire blazed uncontrolled for three hours.

The barn, measuring 270 feet by 36 feet, was valued at close to $20,000, the feed which was stored inside was valued at $2,000, milking machine equipment was valued at $1,000, and 12 sets of harness were valued at about $500. All these were a total loss.

Support Is Withdrawn

Kaye Don Loses Sponsor In Speed Boat Racing

New York.—Kaye Don, British speedboat driver and holder of the world record with Lord Wakefield's "Miss England III," said he knew of no one in England who might take his former backer's place as sponsor of speed boat racing.

Lord Wakefield withdrew his support of Don and said he planned to withdraw entirely from further speedboat ventures.

Lord Wakefield is said to have spent at least $1,000,000 in the last few years promoting automobile, speedboat and airplane speed ventures.

Support For Grain Show

Halifax, N.S.—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce pledged strong support to the promoters of the 1933 world's grain exhibition and conference at Regina, A. committee representative of all parts of Canada will be organized for the purpose of stimulating a dominion-wide interest in this important event.

Germany To Build Battleship

New Cruiser Said To Be As Efficient As Ordinary Ship Twice As Large

Berlin, Germany.—Germany, having turned her back on the world disarmament conference, will begin, on October 1, to build her third "pocket battleship," another of the 10,000-ton cruisers said to be as efficient as a battleship of twice the size.

The admiralty issued an order recently for the laying of the keel. A few hours later the government published the text of a note to the chairman of the disarmament conference, notifying him that there will be no German representative present next Wednesday, September 21, when the conference is resumed at Geneva.

"Germany cannot be expected to take part in negotiations with regard to measures of disarmament," Foreign Minister Von Neurath wrote to Arthur Henderson, the conference chairman, "until it is established that the solution which may be found is also to apply to Germany."

The tenor of the note was a reiteration of the German thesis expressed on several occasions by high government officials to the effect that Germany is willing to disarm to any level, provided that the other nations reduce their armaments to the same point.

The new cruiser, whose sternplates cost approximately $17,850,000 each, is within the limits specified by the Versailles treaty, but because of numerous improvements developed by German naval architects, these vessels are said to be much more formidable than that treaty contemplated.

British Motorists Pay More For Gasoline

Price Has Been Increased Nearly Twenty Per Cent.

London, England.—British motorists were hit by an increase of nearly 20 per cent. in gasoline prices, raising the standard grade to 39 cents a gallon.

The London Omnibus Company estimated the rise would increase its expenses more than $1,000,000 a year. News of the increase caused a sharp rise in oil shares.

The growing army of small car owners had hoped the oil war which has given them cheaper gasoline would continue indefinitely but the inclusion of Roumania and Russia in an agreement ended the price cutting.

Kaye Don Marries

British Speed Boat Racer Weds American Society Girl

New York.—Kaye Don, the English sportsman, disclosed that he and Miss Ellen Martin, 21-year-old society girl, were married at Greenwich, Conn.

The automobile and speedboat racer acknowledged the marriage as he called alone for home. He said his bride of a day would follow him next week after she concludes "some business affairs."

He declined to say who performed the ceremony or to give any other details about it.

COMMENTS BIG WORK

James Purves, heraldic artist of London, Ontario, who has been given the task of inscribing some 68,000 names in the Book of Remembrance, which will be placed within the casket of the Altar in the Memorial Chamber at Ottawa. The names will be written by hand on fine calfskin vellum.

United States Farmers

Buy Manitoba Land

More Than Two Hundred Families Coming To Canada

Winnipeg, Man.—Over long distance telephone from Des Moines, Iowa, Senator L. E. Francis confirmed his association with W. J. Whidden, Winnipeg, in the purchase of 10,000 acres of farmlands in Manitoba for United States farmers.

Mr. Whidden, who telephoned Senator Francis when shown a despatch from Des Moines quoting Mr. Francis as saying "nothing to it," showed the Canadian Press reporter the title to the property and his contract with the United States farmers.

With other parties Mr. Whidden is negotiating for 25,000 more acres in Manitoba. More than 200 United States farmer families will settle on the total acreage, he said. These farmers are coming to Canada, he said, because of higher prices received for farm products in Canada and the fertility of Manitoba soil.

No Fall Session

No Early Sitting Of Alberta Legislature Is Expected

Edmonton, Alberta.—A fall session of the Alberta legislature is not likely, it is stated by Premier Brownlee, and the action of the Dominion Government in calling parliament for October 6 will not have any effect upon the situation in this province so far as its own house is concerned.

Unless some unexpected emergency arises, it will not be necessary to call a sitting of the legislature before Christmas, said Premier Brownlee. If economic or other conditions should become sufficiently serious, it might be found desirable, but there does not appear at present, the premier said, any reason for such action this fall.

Mr. Brownlee intimated however, that in any case as early a date as possible after the new year will be arranged for the regular session.

COMPLETION OF CANADA'S WAR MEMORIAL

Canada's War Memorial, which will be in due course to be erected on Parliament Hill, Ottawa, has now been completed at Farnborough, Kent, England, and for a short period will stand in Hyde Park, London, England. This picture shows the six Marsh Brothers and sister standing before the three significant figures which form part of the memorial. The memorial consists of a huge arch through which passed representatives of the services who responded to the call for men during the World War.

Heavy Property Damage Is Caused By Severe 'Quake In New Zealand

Farmers Hold Wheat

Alberta Farmers Show Tendency To Wait For Higher Prices

Calgary, Alberta.—Alberta farmers are showing a tendency to hold their wheat until higher prices appear, according to grain trade heads in Calgary. Farmers are being given an average price of 32 cents per bushel No. 1 Northern.

Alberta wheat pool officials state farmers feel grain should be held at all places where facilities are available. Storage places, however, are lacking in some centres and it is feared congestion may result in many districts.

Some farmers are urging that coarse grains be retained until prices improve. They point out that present prices made delivery hardly worth while as No. 2 C.W. oats brought only 13 cents per bushel, No. 3 C.W. barley 12 cents, and No. 2 C.W. rye 13½ cents.

Pool heads strongly denied farmers in some districts were forming organizations for the purpose of holding all their crops.

Slayer Pays Penalty

Russian Who Shot French President Dies On Guillotine

Paris, France.—Paul Gorguloff, half-mad Russian adventurer, died on the guillotine at Sante prison for the assassination of President Paul Doumer of France. The knife of the guillotine fell at dawn 6:30 a.m.

The Russian fanatic's last hope of escaping the razor-edged knife of "The Widow" passed when President Albert Lebrun, who succeeded Doumer, rejected his appeal for a commutation.

Dr. Gorguloff was not told of the president's decision until a half hour before his execution, in accordance with French law and custom. Then he was awakened by his guard and lawyers, informed of the appeal's failure, and led unceremoniously to the guillotine.

Sees Better Times

Speaker At Chamber Of Commerce Gathering Looks For Improvement

Halifax, N.S.—Declaring Canada is "on the threshold of the upswing," President W. L. McGregor, of Windsor, Ont., gave a keynote of optimism to the seventh annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

"I am glad to be able to state that it is not only my opinion, but the opinion of many leaders that we are on the threshold of the upswing," he said.

But Colonel McGregor wished to make it clear he was not suggesting the advent of recovery.

"How could anybody seriously forward the idea of the advent of recovery with 14,000,000 unemployed on the continent alone?" he asked.

He was wary of the spectacular rise in stock prices.

Wellington, N.Z.—Much property damage was caused, but apparently there was no loss of life, when a severe earthquake struck the Hawkes Bay section without any preliminary warning tremors.

The epicentre of the earthquake was estimated to be only 30 miles east of Wairoa Bay and the disturbances were deep-seated. The shock struck the town of Wairoa with great suddenness and several buildings were destroyed. An employee of the Star newspaper was injured when a falling typewriter machine crashed through a partition.

At the Wairoa hospital, patients behaved with admirable calm when the shock came, and it did not do much damage to the main hospital building. The nearby nurses' residence, which had just been built, and was waiting for official opening, was however, destroyed.

The nurses who had already spent two winters in tents, following the destruction of their former home in the earthquake more than a year ago, will be compelled to remain there. Steady rain following the "quake added to the difficulties of those who lost their homes and are compelled to camp out. The rural districts suffered equally with the crowded urban sections and at one small settlement a six-roomed house, the pipes, collapsed like a pack of cards.

At Gisborne minor shocks continued and residents were in danger from falling chimneys, one street holding the wreckage of nearly 200 of these. The tower of the Gisborne post office was fractured.

Numerous slips on the hillsides around Gisborne occurred. In February, 1931, 200 persons were killed and 1,000 were injured in a devastating earthquake which caused heavy damage in the Hawkes Bay region.

Since then there has been numerous but less serious quakes, none of which has done extensive damage.

Trade With Russia

Report Canada Will Exchange Aluminium Products For Crude Oil

New York.—The Aluminum Company of Canada, Limited, has contracted with the Soviet government to exchange aluminum wire for crude oil, says the New York Times. The first shipment of oil is now en route to Montreal, the paper says.

The transaction is described by the newspaper as the first of a series by which Russia will buy goods from Canadian industries through the barter system.

An agreement has been made by Aluminum with the La Salle Oil Company for the latter to refine oil and to distribute the product throughout Canada, the paper proceeds.

Russia will utilize the aluminum wire in its vast electrification programme, it is said, and is negotiating for the barter of oil and coal and other raw materials in exchange for items essential to the success of its industrial development.

Germany's Demand For Armament Equality Receives Support

London, England.—Germany's demand for equality in armaments received enthusiastic support from Arthur Henderson, president of the world disarmament conference.

Speaking before the national peace council, Mr. Henderson, who was foreign secretary in the last British Labor cabinet, called upon the allied powers of the World War to carry out the disarmament provisions of the Treaty of Versailles.

"Why shouldn't the World War allies get together and recognize that what was said in their names in 1919 must bind them?" Mr. Henderson demanded.

"Why should they not publicly declare their intention to remove Germany's position of inferiority with all possible haste and to restore Germany's equality in military status?" Mr. Henderson will leave for Geneva to make preparations for the impending resumption of the disarmament conference. Admitting frankly that he was dissatisfied with the results of the conference thus far, he asserted it would be an "intolerable jest" if it failed.

The great mass of British opinion would rejoice in disarmament, Mr. Henderson said.

"We should greet with enthusiasm the abolition of monster battleships, submarines, tanks, huge land guns and, more than anything, that devilish form of warfare, air bombing."

"At last we are tired of tyranny of the armament mongers and are ready for any measure that will put an end to it."

He asserted he could not believe that "the statesmen who are to be assembled at Geneva in the course of the next few days are prepared to take responsibility for encouraging a competitive race in armaments and its inevitable danger of war."

"The claim of Germany to re-arm will present the conference with a most crucial question. If Germany withdrew from the conference she might estrange opinion in Europe. Surely there is a better way and I hope the better way will be taken."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

A city editor wired to a correspondent enquiring why news had not been coming in as plentiful as usual. The correspondent replied stating there was no news. To which the editor replied that there is news wherever there are people. The same rule applies to business. Wherever there are people there is business. Both are to be obtained if the effort is made.

An example of it was seen last week when a couple of sign painters hustled sufficient business to keep them working for three or four days. Business is to be gone after more keenly now than ever before, for in times of depression even people with money have an aversion to spending it.

"Competition is the life of trade," is a familiar slogan. Yet competition can become so fierce as to be murderous. The coal industry is an example. Producers throughout Canada have to compete with United States coal as well as against each other. To add to the intensity of competition, people who buy where they obtain goods the "cheapest." The public contributes to a policy of price cutting by its attitude, and in the coal industry murderous competitive prices compel companies to produce coal on a narrow margin of profit. Wages come under scrutiny and cuts are attempted to meet competition. Who is to blame? Everyone who tries to force prices down must acknowledge that he is helping to force down wages of those who have to toil. It is the selfishness of human nature which has caused many of the ills of the present depression. The high cost of living in the post-war period was complained of, yet there was a more even distribution of the world's wealth in the era of high prices. Miners in the Crows Nest Pass were far better off in the high price era than they are today.

Travelling sign painters spent several days here and placed their firm names on most of the business places. Their work enhances the appearance of store fronts, and enables strangers to know "who's who and what's what." Formerly the majority of stores carried no sign of any importance. Just a little enterprise demonstrates what can be done. Now some storekeepers may want to make the rest of the building look as up-to-date as the signs, and will make a complete job by painting the whole building.

United States Senator Smoot speaks the truth when he states that America's job is to find employment for its own people, and this cannot be done by allowing foreign countries to send their exportable surpluses of goods into the United States. Many in their search for cheapness or lower prices overlook the fact that they may help to put out of business those to whom they wish to sell. It applies to nations, and it applies even to small towns such as Coleman. Fair prices instead of scal prices in which profits are sacrificed create the only sound basis on which to conduct business.

Last week Marx Brothers played at the Palace in "Horse Feathers." Roars of laughter, and small boys unable to remain on their seats, indicated the fun the audience was having. The name indicates the type of picture it is. "High-brows" might turn up their noses with a sniff of disdain at such pictures, but as people go to shows to be amused, it is the box office which tells the story of public likes and dislikes. Many have said they would not go to see a Chaplin picture, yet this droll performer has eclipsed all funny men by his artistry as a comedian, for his style is inimitable, and none can successfully copy him. The more laughs people get, the brighter life may appear.

"It is a grand thing to arise at a regular hour every morning, do your daily dozen, take a cold plunge or shower, eat your breakfast leisurely, and be at the office or workshop on time. That is the way to start the day right, but—as we have often heard it remarked—the road to hell is paved with good intentions."

The importance of a properly made up invoice or billhead cannot be overestimated. See that your stationery properly represents your business and leave your orders with The Journal. Envelopes carry your message to its destination. They are important, and this office can suggest attractive printing copy.

Scouts Colors Presented at Hillcrest

On Tuesday, at 5 p. m., in the Masonic hall, Hillcrest, the Boy Scouts and Cubs were presented with new colors, the flags being the gift of Hillcrest Collieries. Mr. J. M. Mackie, of Montreal, managing director of the company, made the presentation, and Rev. A. S. Partington, B. A., of Coleman, offered the dedicatory prayer. Following the ceremony, supper was served to the Scouts, bringing a very pleasing event to a close. The gift is greatly appreciated by the Boy Scouts Association.

Local News

Mr. and Mrs. G. Kellock entertained a number of friends from Pass towns at dinner on Tuesday evening.

A happy birthday party was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Morrison in honor of their daughter, Ruth, at which a number of friends were present from Fernie, Hillcrest, Blairmore and Coleman.

Mr. Harry Gardner and Miss Hilda Clifford were married on Wednesday at the home of the bride's mother, Rev. A. S. Partington officiating. Only relatives and immediate friends were present, and after the wedding breakfast the newly married couple left for a short honeymoon trip to Banff. On Monday Mrs. Clifford will hold a reception from 4 to 7 p. m.

Following the lecture by Dr. McKay, senior Dominion geologist, at Blairmore on Wed., Sept. 14, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McLeod entertained a number of friends from the Pass towns, at their home, when a very enjoyable social hour was spent. Dr. McKay's lecture proved highly interesting and was attended by people from Fernie, Corbin, and as far east as Burnsville.

Too many people today are caught by the statement that this and that scheme are "good advertising." The test of advertising is the amount of business it actually brings, and in this test the local newspapers have proved the greatest actual business getters of any advertising medium yet devised. When you budget your year's expenditures, be sure that your appropriation for advertising is designated for newspaper advertising, the only kind that is certain of definite, tangible results.

Here and There

Maintaining her position among world nations as a producer of minerals, Canada led the world in the production of nickel and asbestos in 1931, came second in gold, platinum metals and cobalt, third in silver and fourth in refined zinc.

Mystery cruises, so popular out of New York, Southampton and Montreal, have come to the Pacific Coast, being ushered in there by the trim little coastal liner "Princess Patricia," of the Canadian Pacific service, which took the first of these cruises recently. The ship had a full sailing list.

The Canadian Open Golf Championship, third of the Royal Canadian figures yearly in the Royal and Ancient game, will be staged on the course of the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, next year, word to that effect having been received by the secretary of the links from the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

Seventy-seven per cent. of wheat and 43 per cent. of oats and barley in the three western provinces were harvested by September 3, according to the report issued on that date from the general agricultural department, Canadian Pacific Railway, Winnipeg. This result was reached in spite of the halt in harvesting operations due to heavy rains in wide sections of the Prairie Provinces.

All records for the story of the "big one that got away" were broken recently when a well-known fisherman hooked a beaver in the Mississippi and played it for five minutes after which the tradition was fulfilled with loss of fly and leader. The hero of the exploit was S. C. Bennett, of Toronto, a guest at the Banff Springs Hotel.

Canadians got a thrill recently when Captain J. A. Mollison, intrepid trans-Atlantic solo flyer, spoke over the air, which he has conquered, from the Mayfair Lounge of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain. Captain Mollison was heard on 34 radio stations from Halifax to Victoria over a network arranged by the Canadian Pacific Department of Communications. Loud speakers distributed the broadcast to 60,000 visitors at the big exhibition at Toronto.

Though the "Princess Royal," veteran of the Canadian Pacific Railway B. C. Coast steamship fleet has been scrapped and is now in the limbo of departed ships, her forecastle bell remains on the air at Ocean Falls, B.C., where it has been installed at the Ocean Falls United Church mission, which ministers to the spiritual welfare of Japanese children.

Official and unofficial delegates to the Imperial Economic Conference went sightseeing from August 12th to the 14th. Two tours from Ottawa were arranged, both leaving the capital in special Canadian Pacific trains late Friday night, August 12. Shawinigan Falls and Three Rivers were visited by one party, while the other members were cruising down the St. Lawrence from Kingston to Montreal and spending Saturday evening in the metropolis. None of the United Kingdom, Canadian, Australian, New Zealand or Newfoundland or Irish government ministers were able to absent themselves from Conference deliberations, but their delegations were well-represented. Ministers enjoying the trips were Hon. N. C. Havens and Hon. A. P. J. Pourie, South Africa, and Hon. H. W. Moffatt, Southern Rhodesia. The Canadian Government was represented by Hon. Arthur Sauve.

Sudden Death of Mike Ferby Sunday

On Eve of Being Discharged From Hospital is Seized With Heart Attack

Mike Ferby, storekeeper of East Coleman, died in Coleman hospital on Sunday morning, from a heart attack which resulted fatally ten minutes after being seized. For several weeks he had been in hospital, and was almost completely recovered from an amputation of a big toe which had become infected following frostbite last winter. During a fire near his store, he remained most of the night to protect his place, and was frostbitten.

He came to Canada 25 years ago from Kniaz, Galicia, and was of Ukrainian nationality. Prior to settling at Coleman 15 years ago, he worked at Hoamer mine. He was of a cheerful disposition, and made many friends. He is survived by his wife, one son, William, and a daughter, Mrs. Danyluk of Drumheller, who lived here till some years ago, when her husband retired from partnership with Mr. Ferby.

The funeral is to be held this afternoon in Coleman cemetery.

Father Speckmaier Takes Over Duties

Rev. P. M. Speckmaier, formerly of Warner, has taken charge of the parish of Holy Ghost church, succeeding Rev. Edmund F. Lehman. Formerly of Great Falls, Montana, he has been at Warner for over five years, and ill health necessitated his moving to a higher altitude. He is delighted with the mountains, and looks forward with pleasurable anticipation to becoming better acquainted with the people and the district. Coleman extends the hand of welcome to Father Speckmaier.

Present-Day "Demands"

A fellow with "gall" and a "gift of the gab" arrives in a town—any town. If he can muster a group of men to stage a "mass meeting," after talking for some time various demands will be formulated from free beer to $4.00 a day wages and very little work. These demands will be presented to a town council, as in Cranbrook, and some councillors will take them seriously, whilst others will pass them up completely. The type of men which address these meetings are ludicrous in their demands. Tax-payers are ready to help worthy people, but not the type which toil not, neither will they spin, as long as they can unload the burden onto others.

"Paid in Full"

"Third notice." Every editor has received them. The postmaster sends them to the editor. The postmaster is not to blame. For instance, there is a man by the name of—we'll say, Tim Short, who sent us three notices to stop his paper. He did not want it any longer. We wondered what was the matter. Upon investigating our subscription list we found that Tim was short six dollars. He never paid a cent, yet he stopped his paper as a matter of economy—to us. A few evenings or so later we stepped into a church and Tim's melodious voice rang out clear in the song, "Jesus Paid it All." We may have been mistaken, but his earnestness impressed us. The next day we sent him a receipt in full, begging his pardon for not knowing that he had made an assignment of his liabilities to the Lord.—Exchange.

Honey Producers May Expect Good Prices

Yield Over Whole Dominion Lighter This Year

Reports made by C. B. Gooderham, Dominion apiarist, state there is about a 65 per cent. crop in Ontario, a little over 50 per cent. in Saskatchewan and 60 per cent. in Alberta.

While the honey crop in the Red River Valley is somewhat lighter on account of dry weather injuring the clover crop reports from central and northern Manitoba indicate a better crop than last year.

The favorable weather in the spring and early summer developed the clover crop about 10 days earlier than usual in Manitoba, with beneficial results to the honey harvest. According to Mr. L. T. Floyd, provincial apiarist for Manitoba, producers may expect good prices in view of the fact that the yield over the Dominion is only about 80 per cent. normal.

Highland Society Bars Women From Membership

Not Even Royal Lady Can Preside At Annual Festival

The Highland Society of London have decided to ask the Prince of Wales to preside at their next annual festival in June of next year. The decision to make arrangements so far ahead is due to the fact that the patronage of any member of the Royal Family can only be assured by making direct representations many months in advance. The Society is more or less precluded from inviting a Royal lady to preside at their annual festival as the Act of Parliament of 1816 and 1831, by which they have been incorporated, debar women from membership.

THE GUMPE DRESS HOLDS MUCH JOY FOR TINY SCHOOL GIRLS TO START FALL TERM

Isn't this one fetching?

It's a very gay too!

The dress is brown linen. Red and white plaid linen is used for the separate gumpe. Note how it buttons down the back. It can also be worn with a brown and white dotted bustie gumpe.

It's very simple to fashion it.

And it requires the minimum of material.

Style No. 853 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10 years.

Size 8 requires 1 1/2 yards 35-inch with 1 1/2 yards 35-inch for blouse.

For later fall wear, a cunning idea that is exceedingly smart is a tweed mixture in wine-red tones with plain toning wool crepe gumpe.

Rayon mixtures and novelty toning gumpe.

Plan World Cruise

Cunard Cruiser "Carinthia" To Make
Cruise Of Southern Hemisphere

The Southern Hemisphere will be encircled for the first time by a cruise liner when the Cunard cruiser "Carinthia" makes her world cruise next January, leaving New York on January 7th. The entire cruise will be made under the Southern Cross. The duration of the cruise will be 139 days with a distance of approximately 36,301 miles, calling at 35 ports.

After leaving New York the "Carinthia" will call at Kingston, Jamaica, then through the Panama Canal to California, Hawaii, down to the South Sea Islands, visiting in rapid succession those atolls of fabulous beauty and fascination, Tahiti, Rarotonga, Samoa and the Fiji, continuing to New Zealand and Australia, New Guinea, the Dutch East Indies, including Bali and Java, the Strait Settlements, Ceylon, making a stop for the first time in the history of any cruise at the famous Seychelles Islands, (Port Victoria), down the coast of sunny East Africa from Mombasa to Cape Town, across the South Atlantic to Montevideo (for Buenos Aires), Santos, Rio de Janeiro, and back to New York. Practically all ports of the itinerary have seldom been visited by Canadians or Americans.

The cruise will be particularly interesting to Canadians in that a large number of British possessions will be visited, including America, New Zealand, Australia, the Strait Settlements, Ceylon, Seychelles, Kenya, Zanzibar, Union of South Africa and Barbados.

The ship is due back in New York on the afternoon of Thursday, May 25th. The "Carinthia" is the newest steamer in the Cunard fleet, was especially constructed for cruising and is of 20,000 tons gross. The shore arrangements of the cruise are being managed by Thos. Cook & Son.

New Anti-Aircraft Gun

Claimed To Have Range Of Seven
And Half Miles

That a new anti-aircraft gun can bring down an attacking bomber seven and one-half miles up in the air, is the claim to those conducting tests on the Riviera coast near La Seyne, France. The secret of the gun's construction is jealously guarded by the firm whose engineers planned it. Anti-aircraft guns have previously proved effective at a height of about three and one-half miles, but modern aircraft can attain much greater altitudes. In the experiments off La Seyne an aeroplane with pilot and mechanic, ascended seven and one-half miles towing, suspended 1,000 feet beneath it, a target on which the anti-aircraft gun opened fire with live shells. Aviation, military and naval men of Europe are watching the tests.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Harris)

CRISP MOLASSES COOKIES

2 1/2 cups special cake flour, sifted.
1 teaspoon baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
2 teaspoons ginger.
1 cup molasses.
1/2 cup butter or other shortening.
2 teaspoons soda.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and ginger, and sift again. Heat molasses, remove from fire; add shortening and soda. Add flour gradually. Chill. Roll very thin on slightly floured board. Cut with floured cookie cutter. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 10 minutes. Makes 3 1/2 dozen cookies.

STUFFED PRUNE SALAD

2 packages cream cheese.
1/2 can coconut, Southern style, chopped.
2 tablespoons mayonnaise.
24 cooked prunes, seeded.

Blend cheese, coconut, and mayonnaise. Stuff prunes with mixture. Serve on crisp lettuce. Garnish with additional mayonnaise. Serves 8.

SPECIAL MACARONI SALAD

2 cups cold cooked macaroni.
1/2 green pepper, chopped.
2 raw carrots, thinly sliced.
1 medium sized onion, chopped.
1/2 cup French dressing.
Eggless mayonnaise.

Combine macaroni, vegetables and French dressing. Add sufficient Eggless Mayonnaise to bind ingredients. Chill before serving. Serves six.

Old Orders Still Used

Some of the standing orders still in force in the House of Commons are over two centuries old. An old Norman French phrase is still in use in certain instances, notably "Le Roy en veult" (the King wishes it) in giving the Royal assent to a Bill.

Grapefruit trees normally do not flower until they are at least five years old; but after X-ray treatment grapefruit seedlings a month old produced small flowers.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SEPTEMBER 25

MOSES HONORED IN HIS DEATH

Golden Text: "Precious in the sight of Jehovah is the death of His saints."—Psalm 116: 15.

Lesson: Deuteronomy 32:48-52; 34: 5-8.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 116:12-19.

Explanations and Comments

Moses' Learning Of His Approaching Death, 32:48-52.—Moses' work was over. In the plains of Moab he was in sight of the goal of his forty years' pilgrimage. He could behold the Land of Promise, for he was over against Jericho, but he was not to enter it; his last hour had come.

Death is part of the divine economy. The thought of death should make the while seem worth while, and the other world real. Life is a beautiful gift from our father's hands, meant for us to enjoy, but above all, to use aright. And death is another gift from our Father which will lead us into an infinitely larger, happier life.

The Death Of Moses, 34:5-8.—To Joshua, his minister, Moses turned over the reins of his authority. He climbed to the summit of the ridge overlooking the Plain of Moab. Below him lay the white tents of the people whom he loved, for whom he had labored. To the West lay the goal which he had ever had in view; its attaining had been the sustaining hope throughout all the wilderness life. Long and earnestly he gazed. And then he quietly turned away to "make his journey to a fairer land or promise." That which he had long eyes had been fixed. No finer close to a great life could be imagined. Any description of the pageantry of a royal funeral would be tawdry in comparison with the dignity and grandeur of those closing scenes. To leave the grand old warrior alone with God on that mysterious summit overlooking the land which in years would in every event of its glorious spiritual history witness to his service—the imagination could not dream of an end more august and splendid.

"And had he not high honor?" The blessing for his pall; To lie in state, while angels wait With stars for tapers tall."

So Moses, the servant of Jehovah, died there in the land of Moab, according to the word of Jehovah. But no man knoweth of his sepulcher unto this day; this statement was written long after Moses' death. "Out of the simple fact that the place of his burial was unknown to his generations the Hebrew imagination drew the impressive conclusion that he had enjoyed the supreme honor of being buried by none other than Jehovah Himself. It is a sublime interpretation, truly, but in interpretation. The religious interpretation and the history side by side in the words, 'Jehovah buried him alive in the valley, but no man knoweth of the sepulcher unto this day.'—J. E. McFadyen.

"The manner of Moses' death becomes the type of the fundamental isolation of every human soul, an isolation that may not be recognized for a time by those who are unwilling to face ultimate realities, but which nevertheless a fact that in the hour of death can no longer be ignored. Moses was no more alone when the Infinite swept in upon his finiteness out of the gathering night than each one of us will be when the last farewell is over. This is a solemnizing thought in its implication of personal accountability, but it should not be a terrifying thought. It should dignify, not cow the soul; for the touch of the Infinite that seems so fatal to all fellowship and makes us realize our isolation most acutely, is, after all, only the caress of God, if we would but believe it, that welcomes into true union and communion."—Professor Kemper.

"It matters little where he may grave, Or on the land or on the sea, By purling brook or heath stormy waves, It matters little or naught to me.

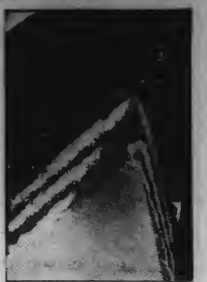

"But whether the angel of death comes down And marks my brow with a loving touch As one that shall wear the victor's crown, It matters much."

Ontario Is Interested

Province Expects To Be Well Represented At World's Grain Show

Ontario will be adequately represented at the World's Grain Show in Regina, July 24 to August 5, 1933, Hon. T. A. Kennedy, provincial minister of agriculture, said at a meeting of the show's Ontario committee at Toronto recently.

The minister advised the committee Ontario should be represented in the Intercollegiate and junior grain judging competition. Plans are being completed for holding grain judging competitions at several strategic points throughout the province to select representatives for a final competition at Guelph. There three Ontario representatives will be chosen. Consideration was given the preparation of an educational exhibit at the show, representing the natural resources of the province.

Madame Lacrole's delicious CHOCOLATE LAYER CAKE

1/2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup milk
2 1/2 cups pastry flour (or 2 cups and 3 tablespoons of bread flour)
3 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
3/4 teaspoon salt

Cream butter, add sugar, a little at a time, beating until light; add beaten yolks and flavoring; add flour, sifted with salt and baking powder, alternately with milk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in 3 grased layer cake pans in moderate oven at 375° F. about 20 minutes. Recipe for Chocolate Filling and Filling is in the Magic Cook Book.

Record For Survey Ship

Government Vessel Sets Mark For Far North Sailing

Completing what is said to have been a new record in far north sailing, the SS. Ocean Eagle, government survey ship, in command of Captain William Pollok, returned to Churchill after a 17-day voyage into the Foxe Basin regions. The "Eagle" steamed near the southern extremity of Cockburn Land, east and slightly south of the magnetic pole. It is stated that no steamer of the proportions of the "Eagle" had sailed so far north in that area east of Baffin Island.

CHAPTER XXXI

An Unwelcome Visitor

Blaise was seated at his study table regarding somewhat dubiously a letter which lay open in front of him. "Dear Mr. Tormarin," it ran. "You will, without doubt, be surprised to receive a letter from me, since we have met only once. But I have something of the most importance to confide in you, and I therefore beg that you will accord me an interview. When I add to this that the matter approaches very closely the future of your business, Miss Peterson, I do not doubt to myself that you will appoint a time when I may call to see you." The letter was signed M. de Varigny.

It was a peaceful scene, full of intimate happiness and tender promises, and Blaise watched it with contented eyes. The voice of Blaise, formal and urbane, roused him from a pleasant reverie.

"Madame de Varigny," announced that functionary, throwing open the door and standing aside for the visitor to enter.

Blaise rose courteously to greet her, holding out his hand. But the Countess shook her head.

"No, I will not shake hands," she said abruptly. "When you know why I am come, you will not want to shake hands with me."

There was something not unattractive about the outspoken refusal to sail under false colours, more especially softened as it was, by the charm of the faintly foreign accent and intonation.

Madame de Varigny had paused a moment in the middle of the room and was regarding her host with curiously appraising eyes, and as Blaise returned her gaze he was conscious, as once before at the fancy-dress ball at Montavon, of the strange sense of familiarity this woman had for him.

"I am sorry for that," he said, answering her refusal to shake hands.

"Won't you, at least, sit down?" pulling forward a chair.

"I'm 40"

the one creature in the whole world whom I love—my bimbina, my little sister. Oh, yes!—her voice rose passionately—"easy enough when there is another woman—a new love—with whom you think to start your life all over again! But I tell you, you shall not! There shall be no new beginning for you—no marriage with this Jean Peterson to whom you are now fance. I forbid it!"

"Are you mad?" asked Blaise contemptuously, experiencing all an Englishman's distaste for this display of unforced drama.

She shook her head.

"No, I am not mad. I am telling you the truth. You can never marry Jean Peterson, because Nesta—your wife—still lives."

"Do you know what you are saying?" he demanded, his voice roughened and uneven.

"Yes, I know. Nesta is alive," she repeated simply.

"Alive?"

"Do you mean?"—Blaise spoke in curiously measured accents—"do you mean that you deliberately concealed the fact that Nesta still lived so that

"So that you should not marry the woman that you loved when the time came? Yes, I planned it all! I kept Nesta safely hidden at Varigny, and I made little changes in her appearance—a woman can you know?"

mockingly—"the colour of her hair, the way of dressing it. Oh, just little changes, so that if by chance she was seen in the street by anyone who had known her as your wife she would not easily be recognized. Oh—once more with that exasperating complacency at her own skill in deception—I thought of every little detail."

She smiled at him blandly.

"I think I have behaved very well," she pursued. "I might have waited till you were actually married. But I have no wish to punish the little Jean. She, at least, is in on the square, as you say—though it would have avenged my Nesta well had I waited. You ruined Nesta's life; I could have ruined the life of the woman you love. I did think of it. Ah! You would have suffered then, knowing that the Jean you worshipped was neither wife nor maid, but a—"

"Be silent, woman!"

Tortured beyond bearing, this final taunt, levelled at the woman he held more dear than anything in life, snapped his last thread of self-control.

He flung himself forward and his hands were gripping, gripping at the soft ivory throat from which the taunt had sprung. He felt the woman writhe, struggling to pull his hands from her neck. But it meant nothing to him. He did not think of her any longer as a woman. She was something else—legions to the very core of her being—a thing to be destroyed. The thing which had made of all Jean's promised happiness a black and bitter mockery.

The mad Tormarin rage surged through his veins like a consuming fire. He would break her—break her and utterly destroy her just as one destroyed a deadly snake.

And then across the thunderous roar that beat in his ears came the beloved voice, the voice that would have power to call him out of the depths of hell itself—Jean's voice.

"Blaise! Blaise! What are you doing?—Stop!"

CHAPTER XXXII

The Dividing Sword

Slowly, reluctantly, Tormarin's hands loosened their clasp of Madame de Varigny's throat, and with a swift, flexible twist of the body she slipped aside and stood a few paces from him.

Jean looked from one to the other with horrified eyes.

"Madame de Varigny?—Blaise?" she stammered. "What is it?—Why, you—you might have killed her, Blaise!"

"Blaise?" Jean spoke imploringly. "What were you doing? Tell me—"

With an effort he seemed to recover himself.

"It's a pity you didn't let me finish it, Jean," he said harshly. "Such women are better dead."

Madame de Varigny was fingering her neck delicately where the pressure of Blaise's grip had scored red marks on the cream-white flesh. She seemed quite composed. Her smile still held its quiet triumph and her long dark eyes gleamed with the same mockery that had brought her within measureless distance of quick death.

"As Monsieur Tor-ma-rin seems to find a difficulty in explaining—permit me," she said at last. "I was angry with me because I bring him the good news that his wife is still alive, that he need mourn no longer."

While she spoke her eyes, resting on Blaise's mask-like face, held an expression of malicious satisfaction.

"His wife . . . alive?" repeated Jean dazedly. "Blaise, is she mad? Nesta has been dead years—years."

Then, as he made no answer, she continued rapidly, a faint note of fear vibrating in her voice. "Isn't it so? Blaise—speak! Quickly, tell her—Nesta has been dead some years!"

"He cannot tell me anything about her which I do not know already, Mees Peterson, seeing that she is my sister and has been living with me ever since her husband's cruelty drove her from his home."

"Is it true, Blaise?" whispered Jean.

Belief that some substance of horrible truth lay behind the Italian's coolly uttered statements was beginning to lay hold of her.

"Blaise, Blaise!"—her voice rising a little—"say it isn't true—tell her it isn't true."

He looked at her speechlessly, but the measureless pain in his eyes answered her more fully, more convincingly than any words.

"You see?" broke in Madame de Varigny triumphantly. "He cannot deny it! It was I who told him of her death and I who now tell him that she still lives. Listen to me, mademoiselle, and I will recount you how—"

"Whatever there may be for me to hear, I will hear it from Blaise—not from you."

She turned again to Tormarin. "Tell me everything, Blaise," she said simply.

"Jean," he said very gently and pitifully. "I'm afraid that what Madame de Varigny says may be true. I have no proof that it is not."

"Nor have you any proof that it is," broke in Jean swiftly. She swung round on Madame de Varigny. "Where is your proof—where is your proof?"

The Italian smiled.

"Monsieur Tor-ma-rin will find his wife in my car. I bade the chauffeur wait with it at the lodge gate."

"Do you mean you have brought Nesta—here?" cried Blaise.

"Why not?" replied Madame de Varigny, with a return to the same exasperating complacency with which she had originally described her whole scheme of revenge. "And—here?"

"Then—then it's true?" she said stupidly. Her voice sounded thin, even to herself—a mere thread of sound. Blaise made no answer. He only held her a little closer in his arms. She supposed he hadn't heard that thin thread of voice. She must try again.

"Is it true, Blaise? Is Nesta—"

But somehow the last words wouldn't come.

She felt his arm jerk against her side.

"Yes," he said badly. "It's true. Nesta is alive. I've seen her."

Surely her husband's house is the proper place to which to bring his wife?"

"She cannot remain here," said Blaise with decision.

"No? For the moment that was not my idea. I brought her with me because I thought there could be no more convincing proof."

"I believe you are deceiving me," said quietly. "Lying—as you have lied all through the piece. I'll come and see this wife, you say, waiting in the car for me?"—grittingly. He turned to Jean. "Keep up your courage, sweet heart," he said in a low voice full of infinite solicitude. "I believe the whole thing is a put-up job to separate us."

Jean smiled at him radiantly. She felt all at once very confident. In a few minutes this nightmarish story of a Nesta still alive and claiming her rights as Blaise's wife would be proved a lie.

Tormarin crossed the room and opened the door.

"Now, Madame de Varigny—will you come with me?"

The woman hesitated a moment.

"Come," insisted Blaise firmly. "Or are you afraid, after all, to bring me face to face with my wife?"

She shook her head.

"No," she said. "I am not afraid. It is only that I am so sorry—so sorry for the little Jean."

Her eyes, soft and dark and liquid as the eyes of a deer, sought Jean's beseechingly.

"I am so sorry," she repeated. And passed, slowly, almost unwillingly, it seemed, out of the room, followed by Tormarin.

Jean raised her head from Blaise's shoulder and pushed back her hair, damp with perspiration, from her forehead. It seemed to her as though she had been down, down into some awful, limitless abyss of darkness from which she was now feebly struggling back to a painful consciousness of material things. A great sea had surged over her head, blotting out everything, and remained poised above her like a huge black arch, imprisoning her in the vast, deserted chaos in which she found herself wandering. Then—after a long time, it seemed—it had surged away again and men could distinguish Blaise's face bent above her.

"Then—then it's true?" she said stupidly. Her voice sounded thin, even to herself—a mere thread of sound. Blaise made no answer. He only held her a little closer in his arms. She supposed he hadn't heard that thin thread of voice. She must try again.

"Is it true, Blaise? Is Nesta—"

But somehow the last words wouldn't come.

She felt his arm jerk against her side.

"Yes," he said badly. "It's true. Nesta is alive. I've seen her."

Jean said nothing. She knew it—had known it all the time the arched wall of sea had kept her down in that awful black waste where there had been neither warmth nor sunshine but only bitter, freezing cold and lightness space. She clung a little closer to Blaise, like a frightened, exhausted child.

"Heart's beloved . . . little dearest Jean . . ." She heard the wrung murmur of his voice above her head. Then suddenly, his arms tightening round her. "My soul!"

The sunlight still slanted in through the windows, mellow and golden. A gay shout of laughter came up from the boat on the lake. The clock on the chimney-piece struck the hour—twelve, slow, maddening strokes.

Jean stared at its blank, foolish face. The hands had pointed to half-past eleven when the door of the room had closed behind Blaise and Madame de Varigny. It had taken just a brief half-hour to smash up her whole world—to rob her of everything that mattered.

"I must think—I must think," she muttered.

"Belovedest"—Blaise's voice was wonderfully tender—not with the passionate tenderness of a lover but with a solicitude that was almost maternal. "Belovedest, don't try to think now. Try to rest a little, won't you?"

And at that Jean came right back to an understanding of all that had happened, as the needle of a compass swings back to the from north.

Whist Drive and Dance, at K. of P. hall, on Saturday, Sept. 24. Good prizes and good music by Mason's orchestra. Admission 50c.

Bob Eastwood and Roy Thomas recently spent the week-end in the Flat-head valley, and caught a few trout. Bob states that the scenery there is just grand, and he greatly enjoyed the trip.

George Reid won five first prizes, two second, and two third, with 12 exhibits of poultry at Bellevue exhibition. He would have had more entered but for being away for a considerable part of the summer on a visit to his old home in Scotland.

Why build for others? Think of this when the interests of your home town are under consideration as against other interests. Anything you may do to make your home town more active, to create more business, to help in community welfare movements, will repay you a hundredfold and bring pleasure in accomplishment.

Peter Smith, Steve Leosky and Mr. and Mrs. Dionne were a delegation to Calgary last week to interview Bishop Monahan. They were driven by Frank Barrington, who made a quick trip, leaving here at 1215 and reaching Calgary by 415 p.m. Returning they reached Coleman about midnight, making the 183 miles each way in four hours.

Duck hunters had a most pleasant day on Thursday last, the weather being warm. Ducks were not plentiful. Those going from here in various parties were G. Pattinson, E. Ledieu, O. E. S. Whiteside, Max Stegler, H. C. McBurney, Harry Antle, George Neil, G. K. Powell and others whose names were not obtained.

Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Borden and family returned on Sept. 15 from Nova Scotia. They left here on June 30 by auto and had a very pleasant trip. Their son Robert, who was a Boy Scout messenger at the Economic Conference at Ottawa, having been selected to represent Alberta, returned with them as far as Hamilton, Man., where he is staying for the present.

Tom Holstead, Jerry Lonsbury and son William spent two days at North Fork on a fishing trip. Tom started the day all wrong by falling into the stream, and bad luck pursued him throughout the two days, for fishing was poor. On the same day Maurice W. Cooke, Frank Creggan, Albert and Sidney Short started before dawn for the same spot, but were stalled near Lundbreck by the rear end of the car becoming deranged. They spent the day fishing in the Old Man River while the car was being repaired. It was a "hoodoo" day for fishermen.
